BULLETIN MARCH 2016

The Construction industry is expected to achieve a single-digit percentage growth in terms of value and the number of jobs to be contracted out in 2016. The growth is driven by the infrastructure projects to be implemented this year under the 11th Malaysia Plan. So, it is not surprising that in light of the economic challenges, the figures have dropped a little in 2015. According to the interim Construction Industry Development Board report, the value of construction jobs given out in the country last year dropped by about 43% to RM96bil from RM167bil in 2014. The report also stated that the number of jobs given out in the country had also dipped by 39% to 5,644 in 2015 from 7,853 in 2014. Of the 5,644 jobs contracted out in 2015, 1,391 were government jobs, while the remaining 4,253 were contracts from the private sector.

The following were the key events organized or participated by MBAM in March 2016:-

INTERVIEW WITH RTM2 'WHAT SAY YOU' PROGRAM

MBAM Secretary General, Mr Dennis Tan and President of SMI Association Malaysia, Mr Michael Kang

The TV2 What Say You program invited MBAM for their weekly show on 6th March 2016 at Angkasapuri to discuss on foreign labour issues. I represented MBAM and was accompanied by the President of SMI Association Malaysia, Mr Michael Kang Hua Keong as the panelists for this programme. The topic of the discussion was on the rehiring programme for illegal foreign workers. During the interview I mentioned the impact of the suspension of the intake of new foreign workers on the construction industry. The ongoing projects will probably still go on with minimal disruption as most of the manpower required for the projects is already sourced when the contractors originally secured the project.

However, when the new projects are launched, contractors will potentially face problems in getting enough workers to work on the projects if the suspension is not lifted soon. According to Ministry of Home Affairs there are about 2.1 million registered foreign workers in Malaysia. The numbers do not reflect the real number of foreign worker inhabitant in this country as we do not have the exact numbers for the illegal foreign workers. This is why it is important to have this rehiring programme so that the Government and the industry can have a better idea of how many foreign workers are actually in the country. To conclude, the interview was a good platform for MBAM to share our views on the foreign workers issues and provided a good exposure for MBAM to learn about how live interview sessions worked.

SME CONNECT: INTERVIEW

Presenting the 60th MBAM Anniversary Coffee Table Book as a token of appreciation to Mr He Jiun Kang

On 7th March 2016, SME Connect visited MBAM to conduct an interview session with MBAM President, Mr Matthew Tee. SME Connect is Malaysia's first monthly Chinese SMEs business newspaper and has a readership comprising of company leaders and the management level. Mr He Jiun Kang, a reporter from SME Connect led the interview at the President's room and they talked on the future of the building industry in Malaysia. Mr Matthew mentioned the lifelong battle of the building industry in getting sufficient labour for its projects and the ever increasing cost of doing business which is burdening the employers.

On the topic of going global, MBAM believe that we should embrace the challenges of going global as the Trans-Pacific Partnership Agreement (TPPA), ASEAN Economic Community (AEC) and One Belt One Road initiatives are unavoidable. Therefore, it is high time for local contractors to compete with foreign contractors to deliver products and services that are up to foreign expectations and conform to international standards of quality and performance. The international barriers to trade in services should also be gradually but ultimately removed to encourage the local contractors to go global.

MBAM President, Mr Matthew Tee eloquently answering the questions by Mr Jiun Kang

Head Office in Kota Damansara. The interview was held for their programme "Moving Malaysia" which was led by their main anchor, Ms Sophie Kamaruddin. Among the issues that were brought up during the interview was on the rehiring program and the freeze on the intake of new foreign labour. The construction sector is coping for now but a prolonged freeze on the intake of new foreign workers will hurt the industry as labour shortage delays project completions. The Government needs to engage industry players more to make real progress on reducing reliance on foreign labor. The interview was short and sweet and MBAM was grateful for the chance to be a part of the new era of fast paced news sharing programme.

MBAM President, Mr Matthew Tee was invited by Bloomberg TV Malaysia on 8th March 2016 for a brief interview on the foreign worker issue in Malaysia. The interview took place at Bloomberg

TALK ON ORIENTED PVC PIPE - THE PIPE REVOLUTION

The Material Resources Committee organized the "Talk on Oriented PVC Pipe – The Pipe Revolution" on 31st March 2016. The talk was attended by 28 participants. Ms. Cho Foong Khuan, Material Resources Committee member gave her welcoming remarks before the talk started. Mr. Kum Eu Tsung and Mr. Koay Chee Seng, Material Resources Committee also attended the talk.

Mr. Walter Philip Pattynama, Area Manager, Molecor Tech was the first speaker for the talk. His presentation was on the overall Molecor technology, oriented PVC pipe compare to the Molecor pipe and the pipe revolution. The latest patented technology to produce PVC-O at the highest degree of orientation which is class 500 and also, with integrated socket system is by using air based system. PVC-O is made by realigning the PVC molecules through a process of orientation. This greatly enhances the material properties – around twice the strength and ten times the impact resistance is achieved compared to traditional PVC-U material. The result is that PVC-O has a larger bore offering greater hydraulic capacity; the pipe is manufactured with significantly less embodied energy and is more material efficient compared to other pipe options. The orientation process imparts high strength at maximum material efficiency. It is the most eco-friendly pipe system in the world as it requires less energy to produce than conventional PVC-U and other pipe materials. It also uses less energy in service than all other pipe types. Considering their relative low weight, PVC-O pipes are strong, robust and durable. It is easy to handle and installed and due to its light weight, no heavy machinery is needed or size below 315 mm. The second speaker was Mr. Jason Lee, Marketing Manager for Molecor (SEA) Sdn Bhd, his presentation was on the local marketing comparison and installation method.

Among the participants attending the talk

To conclude, the talk received a positive feedback as the participants commented that the talk was educational and helped to enhance their knowledge.
