Orchestrators : The Guardian of Project Value

Elevated Experience

PRISM 2026 explores the rise of the PM Orchestrator, a new leadership paradigm where project managers go beyond coordination to govern complex ecosystems of stakeholders, technologies, and autonomous systems. In this environment, project leaders must balance speed with strategic value, ensuring that projects do not merely deliver outputs but create measurable impact for organizations and society.

Across two days, PRISM will bring together industry leaders, technology pioneers, transformation experts, and project professionals to share lessons, frameworks, and real-world experiences on how project management is evolving in the age of AI and digital transformation.
